REUTER informs us that the election of Mr McKintey as Governor of Ohio is regarded as removing the free silver coinage measure. conv. v the battalion now stationed at Masao. from the region of active politics. This is probably putting the matter too strongly, but the event certainly removes the prospect of ween the foreign Powers and China, and the an early boom in silver. The significance of defence of Macao may become a pressing matter. the contest in Ohio was explained by the Philadelphia correspondent of the Times a few weeks ago. Both parties had made silver the first plank in their platform, even the McKinley tariff being made subor limite to this issue. The Democrats supported free Canton, although he has not yet been notified to acquire any mines, mining rights, and meor unlimited silver coinage, while the Republicans denounced such a policy. Governor CAMPBELL, the Democratic candidate, and numerous members of his party are said to have deemed the adoption of free coinage unwise, but the party managers insisted nothing but cordial relations. upon including it in their programme. The Ohio election is considered as the forerunner of the outlook for the presidential siders the attitude taken towards the military smelt, refine, amalgamate, and gen rally precampaign, which takes place next year, but contribution question is assuming the form of pare for market, quartz, ore, metal, and injueral a burlesque. The interest of the trader in the Far East in American curseeing prices raised, like the Farmers' Alliance, but in the desire to have stability given to the metal in which their transactions with the natives have to be adjusted. It is talse principles on which the issue was argued by the Ohio Democrats that the defeat they have sustained may be ascribed, for it was not to be expected that the voters at large would support a currency measure represented as likely to benefit one class of the community by raising prices, at the expense of the rest. That bimetallism will prevail in the long run we still believe, but it must be confessed that the present prospect is not encouraging.

Hon. T. H. WHITEHEAD said -I notice there is an increase of $10,000 in the vote for this department. The increase appears to be due chiefly to the increase for grants in aid and to the building grant of $5,000 to the Diocesan Home. The CHAIRMAN -- As the Colony grows, of nourse more is required every year for education. Last year the amount for grants-in-aid was insufficient and a reduction had to be made pro rate. In some cases this amounted to a raduction of ten per cent. This was very discouraging to the teachers and was really an injustice to them. With regard to the Diocesan Home the grapt has been made on special conditions. The Government gives one half on condition that the other half is subscribed, and certain regulations is a most excellent one. It is doing good work and is deserving of every support. Hon, T. H. WHITEHEAD-I do not wish to oppose the vote. I have no doubt that the money will be well spent but we must remember that the colony is in a most deplorable, condition. S 4,000 seems to me a very large proportion of the revenue of the Colony to spend in this manner.
